Welcome to The Church at Las Vegas. We'd like to thank everyone here today for choosing to worship with us. Each and every person here is an encouragement to others in this congregation, and we trust that you will be equally blessed by today's services.

If you are a visitor here today, again, welcome. We would ask you to please fill out a guest card and place it in the offering basket as it is passed. If you are currently looking for a church home, or if you have any questions about the services, please ask the minister after the service is over this morning. Also, please come and enjoy donuts and coffee next door in the fellowship hall after the service is complete

THE SHOE SALESMEN

John Maxwell tells the story of two shoe salesmen who were sent to a remote Island to sell shoes. After arriving, the first salesman called the home office back in Chicago and told them that he would be returning the next day because no one on the Island even wore shoes. The second salesman arrived and immediately noticed the same thing. He, too, called the home office in Chicago. But instead of telling them that he was returning tomorrow he told them to send 10,000 pairs of shoes because everyone needed them.
